Michigan Congress of Parents, Teachers, and Students (MPTA)	$30,000	$30,000

The Michigan Congress of Parents, Teachers, and Students (MPTA) will continue their statewide and local initiatives to encourage parent-child communication and parent-school collaboration to promote effective sexuality and HIV/STD prevention programs. They will implement workshops at statewide and regional conferences for parents, administrators, school policy makers, and health educators, as well as local PTA meetings for parents and caregivers of middle/junior and high school students. The workshops will help parents and caregivers to understand their role in educating children about sexuality and working with the school to ensure that programs meet the needs of students and are consistent with community norms, state law, research, and best practice. The MPTA will update their website to include information and resources on these topics that can easily be printed, copied, and disseminated. The MPTA has over 110,000 members in more than 700 local units, and is in a unique position to provide families with the information and skills needed to talk with their children about critical issues that affect health, safety, and academic achievement.
